

Sometime Thang

Rodney Crowell

She's a wildwood flower in a red Corvette
Tanya Tucker meets Cate Blanchett
She's stacked like dishes in the kitchen sink
She doesn't give a damn what it is you might think

She's got the blue-green eyes and hoodoo smile
Pearly white overbite, drive a man wild
Voice like butter when she opens her mouth
Ever since I met her, been heading down south
You can try to make it thunder, you can try to stop the rain
She don't believe in making love to a sometime thang
Sometime thang
Sometime thang
She don't believe in making love to a sometime thang

Whoever said diamonds are a girl's best friend
Might've set you thinkin' you can buy your way in
In case you haven't noticed while you're flashing that green
She's happy feeding quarters to a slot machine
She's an open invitation to go back from where you came
She don't believe in making love to a sometime thang
Sometime thang
Sometime thang
She don't believe in making love to a sometime thang

You could own a Swiss château, half a block in Monaco
Un Gros Maison downtown St Tropez
You can take your gulf stream jet and park it where the sun don
't set
In case you haven't heard me yet, be careful where you place th at bet

You better heed my warning tell me what'd I say
I'm gonna love that woman 'til my dying day
Go on and make a move on what you know to be mine
It's only gonna lead you to the back of the line
You can try to run your number, let me try to make it plain
She don't believe in making love to a sometime thang
Sometime thang
Sometime thang
She don't believe in making love to a sometime thang
