

Things That You'd Never Expect

Roe Kapara

Things That You'd Never Expect
What crawled out under my bed
Fester and stuck in my skin
Burnt down and burried my sins
I'm nauseous, can't help it
Hate fuck your best friend in your bed
Made coffee, had breakfast
She wore your clothes and took your meds

And suddenly I've changed
Lock the doors and hang the frames
You can't hate me quite like I do
Another summer set in flames
Light the match and curse my name
You can't hate me quite like I do

Creatures invaded my home
Controlled my flesh and my bones
I danced at night with the ghosts
Forget everything you know
I'm heartless, my darling
You know I'm poison in your veins
You think you're so special
Just one more flower in my bouquet

And suddenly I've changed
Lock the doors and hang the frames
You can't hate me quite like I do
Another summer set in flames
Light the match and curse my name
You can't hate me quite like I do
Now I'm alone, burning my clothes
Running from home

La-da-da-da-ha
La-da-da-da-ha
La-da-da-da-a
La-da-da-da-ha
La-da-da-da-ha
La-da-da-da

And suddenly I've changed
Lock the doors and hang the frames
You can't hate me quite like I do
Another summer set in flames
Light the match and curse my name
You can't hate me quite like I do

And suddenly I've changed
Lock the doors and hang the frames
You can't hate me quite like I do
Another summer set in flames
Light the match and curse my name
You can't hate me quite like I do