

Body Language

Ron Pope

You've got an accent different than mine
But I watch your lips and always find
More things in common than could keep us apart
'Cause I know your heart

You speak my body language, using words I ain't never heard
You speak my body language, you're the only one on Earth
I'm gonna listen to you, like a choir of angels
Speak my body language, body language
Speak my body language, body language

You go out searching for whatever we lack
I'll be right here waiting when you come back
Might sound so simple but at least I'm sincere
I need you here

You speak my body language, using words I ain't never heard
You speak my body language, you're the only one on Earth
I'm gonna listen to you, like a choir of angels
Speak my body language, body language
Speak my body language, body language

I wanna sit close to your fire
Gonna speak in words I know will ignite your desire
I'll ask you questions that I'm sure you do not know the answers to Just to talk with you

You speak my body language, using words I ain't never heard
You speak my body language, you're the only one on Earth
I'm gonna listen to you, like a choir of angels
Speak my body language, body language
Speak my body language, body language
Speak my body language, body language