

Bright Lights

Ron Pope

Bright lights and then the curtains down
We watched the crowds spill out into the winter cold
Bright lights and now we're driving home
You got your hand on my arm, can't keep my eyes on the road

I want you, it's as simple as that
It's never gonna be easy, darling
I want you, yeah there's no going back

You want him instead, want him instead
And I could be the one to turn and walk away
Just let me know, just let me know
And I will be the one to always drive you home

Bright lights, yeah I'm singing loud
Know what the song's about, it's written all on my face
Oh bright lights, I kiss away your tears
And after all these years, I love you more every day

I want you, it's as simple as that
Never gonna be easy, darling
I want you, yeah there's no going back

You want him instead, want him instead
Then I could be the one to turn and walk away
And just let me know, just let me know
And I will be the one to always drive you home

I see the bright lights, woah
See the bright lights, woah
See the bright lights, woah
See the bright lights, woah
See the bright lights, woah
See the bright lights, woah
See the bright lights, woah

Won't hear me say, won't hear me say
That I could be the one to turn and walk away
Just let me know, just let me know
And I will be the to always drive you home

Just let me know, just let me know
And I will be the one to always drive you home
