

Master Plan

Ron Pope

I will hold you
In my arms
And pull you closer
In the dark
'Cause you are my woman
And I am your man
And it's all part of
Some master plan

When I met you
I saw in your eyes
A brand new future
The rest of my life
And I knew that somehow
You could understand
That it's all part of
Some master plan

I know that I love you
We'll figure out the rest
Whatever else happens
At least we both know that

I hope there's children
And fifty years
I pray our good times
Outlast the tears
And when there's darkness
Please grab my hand
And know it's all part of
Some master plan

I know that I love you
We'll figure out the rest
Whatever else happens
At least we both know that

When all your burdens
Become too much
Rest them upon me
And I'll pick you up
And carry you till
My legs won't stand
'Cause it's all part of
Some master plan
It's all part of
Some master plan
