Back in the Day

Ronan Keating

She left me alone
She told me on the phone
Now that just don't seem right
I will close my eyes, and turn out all the lights
But I won't cry tonight, 'cause I'm already sleeping

All of those things are in the past
Like a beaten up and faded photograph
Can't remember your name,
Who are you again?
You're history, history, yeah
Back in the day, my my hey hey
No more living for yesterday
Come and kiss me, I will prove that there is more to me than you
Back in the day, my my hey hey

You don't love love me that's okay
I'm moving in and moving out
Think I can't pull through just
Watch me without you
She always picked a fight, every other night
And she was always right, yeah right
Now I won't be a fool
I guess I broke some rules
But I broke them on my own, when you were
With someone else at night

All of those things are in the past
Like a beaten up and faded photograph
Can't remember your name,
Who are you again?
You're history, history, yeah
Back in the day, my my hey hey
No more living for yesterday
Come and kiss me, I will prove that there is more to me than you
Back in the day, my my hey hey

There's a time punching the wall
Dying to crawl, willing to crawl
No way, whatever, whatever
I guess we're not meant to be together
That's okay

All of those things are in the past
Like a beaten up and faded photograph
Can't remember your name,
Who are you again?
You're history, history, yeah
Back in the day, my my hey hey
No more living for yesterday
Come and kiss me, I will prove that there is more to me than you
Back in the day, my my hey hey
