

Every Fire

Ronnie Milsap

I guess it is a bit too soon
To be the life of the party
Ahh, did I go and spoil the mood
Well, I'm sorry, darlin'

But before you go I wanna tell you
I wish that I could change the way things are
But everytime I go and find a tiny spark
I'll say something wrong
And it's easy to tell that it's raining in my heart
And that's been puttin' out every fire I try to start

Now when she left it hurt me so
But I knew somebody I'd be alright
And I swear to you that I don't know
Why it's taking such a long time

But before you go I wanna tell you
I wish that I could change the way things are
But everytime I go and find a tiny spark
I'll say something wrong
And it's easy to tell that it's still raining in my heart
And that's been puttin' out every fire I try to start

I'll say something wrong
And it's easy to tell that it's still raining in my heart
And that's been puttin' out every fire I try to start
And that's been puttin' out every fire I try to start