

How Will I Remember You

Rosemary Clooney

How will I remember you
By the breathless way you always spoke
By the welcome in your arms
And what about this heart you broke

How will I remember you?
How could I forget a kiss so rare?
And a touch that carried me
A way out in to space somewhere

Come back to me
Come back to me
We hold the secret of
A special love
A love that's meant to be

How will I remember you
What a foolish question sweetheart mine
When a thousand memories
Are with me nearly all the time

Come back to me
But til you do
How well will I remember you

Come back to me
But til you do
How well will I remember you
