

Get That Feeling

Roses & Revolutions

You and me drunk on the telephone
Brings me back to all the things we used to do before
But we banked our history, enough to release me of passing dreams
Cause dreams are just memories enhanced by feelings from outer space

And I get that feeling
And I get that feeling from you
And I get that feeling
And I get that feeling from you

You and me drunk on the telephone
Have we both forgotten how we used to talk at all
But we were just kids then, wild through the Barrens of summer night
High on the weekend we jumped off the deep end to feel electrified

And I get that feeling
And I get that feeling from you
And I get that feeling
And I get that feeling from you

What did I tell you when everything was so wrong
What did I tell you, nothing we can do now
What did I tell you when everything was so wrong
What did I tell you, nothing we can do now
What did I tell you when everything was so wrong

And I get that feeling
And I get that feeling from you
And I get that feeling
And I get that feeling from you

And I get that feeling
And I get that feeling from you
And I get that feeling
And I get that feeling from you
