

Looking Glass

Roses & Revolutions

Alone in the dark, but everything's crowded
Already lost and the race hasn't started
I'm starting to find some peace of mind
In knowing it doesn't matter what I do

I see the world from the top of my cloud
Whispers at night, there's no need to be loud
I'm trying to find a gap in time
To plant my flag and disappear into
Yeah, I'm starting to find some peace of mind
In knowing it doesn't matter what I do

You can call me crazy
You can call me mad
You can call me crazy
But it's the best thought I ever had

Holding my breath to savor the moment
Shed my disguise the second it's loaded
I wish you could see the piece of me
That fell between the different shades of blue
Yeah, I'm starting to find some peace of mind
In knowing it doesn't matter what I do

You can call me crazy
You can call me mad
You can call me crazy
But it's the best thought I ever had

You can call me Alice
You can think I'm mad
You can call me crazy
But it's the best thing I ever had

You can call me crazy
You can call me mad
You can call me crazy
But it's the best thought I ever had