

Breathe

Ross Copperman

Oh, welcome back
The fog has lifted
Feels like years have passed
Since you went missing

Now I'm in your room
And I'm in your space
I know your truth
Don't hide your face

Stop, breathe in again, release completely
Out and in, it's elementary
You're in command
Oh, anything can happen when you start
Breathing again

I bet your limbs are weak
For treading water
Oh, how you fought the deep
Still it pulled you under

But then I came for you
And you pled your case
I saw your truth
And I held your face

And I said

Stop, breathe in again, release completely
Out and in, it's elementary
You're in command
Oh, anything can happen when you start
Breathing again

Oh, there's nothing more extraordinary
Oh, you can find your sanctuary
Oh, no... Yesterday won't matter when you start...
Breathing again
Again, again...

Stop, breathe in again, release completely
Out and in, it's elementary
You're in command
Oh, anything can happen when you start
Anything can happen when you start...
Breathing again