

How Many Heartbreaks

Ross Copperman

I'm pushing everyone I can away to hold you tight
But you're running through my hands night after night
Wanna close out everything and close my eyes
I wanna knock around like this time after time

Even though I know they say
There's nothing left for me to save
Only one, that's all it takes
To take away this feeling

How many heartbreaks do I have to hurt through
How many hold-ons do I have to burn through
How many fault lines does it take to shake you
How many heartbreaks does it take to break through

I wanna tell you that I'll be alright but I can't lie
I wanna be the way we were for one more night
I wanna make you feel the love I feel inside
I wanna find the words we lost between the lines

Even though I know they say
There's nothing left for me to save
Only one, that's all it takes
To take away this feeling

How many heartbreaks do I have to hurt through
How many hold-ons do I have to burn through
How many fault lines does it take to shake you
How many heartbreaks does it take to break through

I wanna believe in something bigger than myself, yeah
I wanna know Heavens come and going through this hell
I wanna be thankful for the part of you you gave me
You gave me

How many heartbreaks do I have to hurt through
How many hold-ons do I have to burn through
How many fault lines does it take to move you
How many heartbreaks, does it take to break through
Yeah, yeah you...

How many heartbreaks do I have to hurt through
How many hold-ons do I have to burn through
To break through
To you
To you...