

Human

Ross Copperman

Shouldn't be so hard on the reflection that I see
And I shouldn't listen to what people say about me
And I should be happy that I'm healthy and all free
But it ain't enough, no
I shouldn't be so jealous of some random stranger's life
Look at other girls and wonder what it might be like
I shouldn't pray just when things ain't going right
That's when I do, oh

We're all flesh, we're all bone
We're one heart beating
We're all broke, we're all cut
Yeah, we're all bleeding
Breaking down on our way back home to Eden
Tryna find redemption in our ruins
Yeah, we're just human

I shouldn't push my kid to be a football star
Just 'cause I wasn't good enough to go that far I shouldn't walk my neighbor's car, I shouldn't stop off at the bar
On my way home 'cause life's too hard and I don't wanna feel it

We're all flesh, we're all bone
We're one heart beating
We're all broke, we're all cut
Yeah, we're all bleeding
Breaking down on our way back home to Eden
Tryna find redemption in our ruins
Yeah, we're just human
Guess we're just human

After all
Thinking that we'd make the call
It's good, what's right
We might get to heaven

We're all flesh, we're all bone
We're one heart beating
We're all broke, we're all cut
Yeah, we're all bleeding
Breaking down on our way back home to Eden
Tryna find redemption in our ruins
Yeah, we're just human
Yeah, we're just human
