

Walls We're All Against

Ross Copperman

When you feel just like no matter where you are You're never home
And the wheel you keep on holding
When you won't let it go
Hold on
Hold on
To me

When you close your eyes and feel like
You can't get through what you got
And you're standing on another train
Wishing it would stop
Let go
Let go
For me

There's a feeling that we're all alone
That we're always going to face
That the walls we keep on building that
Just can't seem to break
They're walls we're all against

When you need a place to fall apart
To throw away the stone
And you're acting like you don't need anybody
But if you don't
Hold on
Hold on
To me

There's a feeling that we're all alone
That we're always going to face
That the walls we keep on building that
They're walls we're all against

Hold on
Hold on to me
Yeah, hold on
Hold on to me
Hold on
Hold on to me
Yeah, to me
To me

You're feeling like you're up against the wall
Just know we're all against the wall
We're all against the wall
