

Subway Angel's Caravan

Rough Silk

Someday - time will tell - you will see what a gift this life is - we are meant to be free

when we leave this world behind the magic of the night leads the naked and the blind to the other side of a dreamer's golden mind and forever burn so bright turn around and you will find another shinin' light

down on senseless avenue all your fantasies come true welcome home, my chosen few when your hot gets a little cold when your young gets a little old your now gets a little then subway angel's caravan

there's a seat that knows your name when things have gone astray and there's no one left to blame 'cause your friends all went away i'm the reason you've denied and the clown of life's decay

down on senseless avenue.....

"love rules" says the neon sign "trust calls when your blood is wine..."

when your hot gets a little cold....