

The End Of Infinity

Rough Silk

The brave vikings of Valhalla went out ridin' on the wind and Eric, the one-eyed chief of the posse, asked his horse for a peppermint
"Who the underworld do you think you are ?" was all the stallion had to say,
"I don't get payed and I don't get layed and I'm tired of the games you play !"
I'm sure - we'll meet again - don't know where - don't know when.
You warriors of yesterday should start to think and learn.
The times have changed - you're dead for ages - and now this ain't your turn.

It's a long way home from the end of infinity
- on the run forever
from the burning of Rome to the sands of trinity
- someday we'll come together
at the end of infinity

In the ruins of Abu Simbel the Pharaoh's ghost appeared
- he gathered his fellow ghosts around 'cause life as a ghost is sometimes weird.
"I'm a traveller through space and time, you know, actually from the 21st century.
And now I ride back to where I lost my love on this horse of destiny !
From my window I could see the highway - watchin' the trucks passin' by
- remember us standin' in the rain - remember the rose - before the river Nile made me live to die !
I'm sure we'll meet again - don't know where - don't know when.
Someday I'll be knocking at your door, you'll see,
and I hope you'll still be in love with me.

It's a long way home from the end of infinity.....

It's a long way home from the end of infinity.....
