Half a Woman, Half a Shadow

Daylight is breaking again. I hide in the dark. I'm watching the rain. You're out of touch. You're out of reach. What can I say, I never wanted it this way.

Love sleeps all alone. The cold telephone, I know the heart. Yes, I know the kind. The kisses of fire, turning to grey. I never wanted it this way. I always wanted you to stay.

Wash my pain away, cause I'm half a woman, half a shadow.

Love always change with the trees, the spring and the leaves, the waves on the sea. Wilder than light the wind in your eyes led me astray. I never wanted it this way. I always wanted you to stay.

Oh I need you, yes I need you. Give me a reason to believe.

Roxette