

So Obvious

Roy Woods

Summer's over, and it all begins
When you fall out of love, you turn so cold
You're in pain, girl, it's obvious
It's so obvious

Lay your problems down here
If you gon' start right here
Babe, you know I don't care
If you spend a couple nights here, babe
I got you, my dear
I know you might feel
Your love ain't going nowhere

All I know is that I want good for you
But I still want best for me
I can't let you drag me down
Even if you're in love with me
Sometimes, you're no good for me, girl, no good for me at all
But then I try to fix anything, everything that can go wrong

Summer's over, and it all begins
When you fall out of love, you turn so cold
You're in pain, girl, it's obvious
It's so obvious

You should know what I want, baby
Need to seek who you are, baby
So you can give me your love, baby
But is that what you want?
Ice your neck out, but it's time that you want
Get you new bags, but it's time that you want
Always asking why, so I buy her Saint Laurent
Fuck all them questions, girl, why you always getting so mad?
We ain't even got problems like that
Ooh, but I'll say that I don't want it like this
Me and you been a mess
We'll see when the winter ends, till the

Summer's over, and it all begins
When you fall out of love, you turn so cold
You're in pain, girl, it's obvious
It's so obvious