Reason

Rozzi Crane

Do you hear that sound?
That's my inner monologue wondering if I should call you
Story's over now
I'm stuck in our epilogue, always knew I would call you

I got drunk last night 'cause I miss you
I came home alone 'cause I miss you too much
To find someone else to replace you
I, I realize

If everything happens for a reason
Then the reason is you
If my feelings don't change with the seasons
Then the reason is you
I, I'm still grieving, it's true
And if everything happens for a reason
Then the reason is you

Are you proud of me?
Now I'm finally the girl not afraid of commitment
If you're into me
Swear that whatever we mess we make will be different

I got high last night 'cause I miss you (I miss you, baby)
Kissed some guy my type, but he just didn't feel like you
No one else could replace you
I, I realize

If everything happens for a reason
Then the reason is you
If my feelings don't change with the seasons
Then the reason is you
I, I'm still grieving, it's true
And if everything happens for a reason
Then the reason is you

I close my eyes, I still see you
Wishes of us I'll make come true
Oh, my love, if you only knew

I know you know that everything happens for a reason
Then the reason is you
If my feelings don't change with the seasons
Then the reason is you (then the reason is you)
I, I'm still grieving, it's true (it's true)
And if everything happens for a reason
Then the reason is you
