

Far Away from Home

RPWL

A sky so blue
As blue as that down here
But thread with silver rays as dusk before it's dark
A sea so blue
So blue and deep you'd not believe
The deepest water you could not conceive

Just take the brightest star
About two fingers to the left
You see a group of lights
Leave them all behind
Now sit down and take your time
We're flying light years far away
From here, are you ready for a trip?
To the place where I belong

A crowded place
I wish that words could say
What life means when your heart is full of joy
No want, no greed
No gods to tell you lies
When love will the fight against our fears

Take the brightest star

About two fingers to the left
You see a group of lights
Leave them all behind
Sit down and take your time
We're flying light years far away
From here, are you ready for a trip?
To the place where I belong

I can't recall
But it hurts so much to see
How you destroyed what you were meant to be
Now, once there was a time
When we were just like you
It's in the past and so hard to believe

Take the brightest star
About two fingers to the left
You see a group of lights
Leave them all behind
Sit down and take your time
We're flying light years far away
From here, are you ready for a trip?
To the place where I belong
