

No right to live in freedom, no right to live in peace Dropping bombs on children. Feeding hate and fear
The coming generation learns to suffer and destroy Without even knowing what they're fighting for

Can't you see what's going on outside?
Our mission is a new tomorrow
So many lives got nowhere to hide
And no chance to change things for a better world
They have been silenced and left in the dark

You can smell the perfume of death lying on the ground
Killing in our modern world, it doesn't make a sound People take their pleasure in causing suffering and pain
The healing waters running dry. Our babylon will fall again

Can't you see what's going on outside?
Our mission is a new tomorrow
So many lives got nowhere to hide
And no chance to change things for a better world

Our life seems to be so bright safe in our cities of gold Standing still and doing what we're told 'cause it's not our business at all
People that suffered for such a long time
And the world with its interests is standing aside
They have been silenced and left in the dark

They die that can live, they starve that we can eat
They are tortured while we're sleeping, still have no bad dreams
Manipulate statistics, clouding out the truth
But in our patterns of behavior it wouldn't change things if we knew
We learned to be silent, so let's keep it dark

(soldier:)

"Look what they are doing. Behind their ugly walls
They are a demographic danger, they are born to live in war
You are a victim of your birth, I see the enemy within'
I see what you are and I can see what you have been
The problem must be solved, we can solve it I am sure For every friend of mine, I'll kill a hundred friends of yours"

The world keeps on turning while innocents die
How much guilt can you take in one life?
But we have learned to sleep well in the night
People that suffered for such a long time
But we have learned to sleep well in the night
'cause they have been silenced and left far behind
