I'm driving in my new car to the new house
It's a Toyota, my dad he helped me out
It reminds me of the first one my mom bought
It's big and it's white, the soccer mom saw it

There's a few of us livin' in the same place
The bathroom's big enough for a moderate race
On the piss watchin' tellie after work
Even the skies out here are so cheap it hurts

Aren't we all

Minding my own business tryna pay rent
We'll probably end up living in the suburbs again
