

She Fell In Love In The Summer

Omar Rudberg

Ah, ah-ah-ah
Ah, ah-ah-ah, ah-ah-ah
Ah-ah-ah, ah-ah

She gets a little high when she feels a little low
She seen a lot of things, but she's still not old
And she lights another cigarette 'cause she likes the way it shines
She tells a little lie, 'cause who would ever know?

She fell in love in the summer
A life was just a dance and she believed
Someone loved her
Thinking, "I'm as free I'll ever be"

Ah, ah-ah-ah
Ah, ah-ah-ah, ah-ah-ah
Ah-ah-ah, ah-ah

One day she met a boy, he treated her well
So good that she didn't wanna hurt herself
But he was just a summer breeze
And he drifted with the wind
She was hitting bottom again

She fell in love in the summer
A life was just a dance and she believed
Someone loved her
Thinking, "I'm as free I'll ever be"

Ah, ah-ah-ah (oh yeah)
Ah, ah-ah-ah, ah-ah-ah
Ah-ah-ah, ah-ah (ah, yeah)

She was tired of all her friends, 'cause no one really understood her
She was tired of all pretending, tired of feeling like a loser
What was warm, got so cold, and without letting anyone know
She made up her mind after summer
'Cause life was just a dance and she believed
No one loved her
Screaming, "I'm as free I'll ever be"

'Cause life was just a dance and she believed
No one loved her
She fell in love in the summer
'Cause life was just a dance and she believed
No one loved her

She made up her mind after summer
