

Look in my direction
But I swear you look right through me
We used to fit so perfect
But I guess you just outgrew me
I planned my life around the promises
That we both made
The more it hurts the more I yearn
My heart is surely swollen
And all you do is paint me blue
Remember we were golden
Maybe numb the pain before you break it
'Cause I can hear the words before you say them

So lie and say you love me
Lie one more time
Stay with me and painfully just say we'll be alright
Just lie

You're lookin' out the window
While I long for your attention
Was it ever real to you or were you just pretending?
Holding on to something that's just water in my hands
I asked her why so suddenly and this is what she told me
It don't feel like dying when it's happening so slowly
I can see the end before it happens
Oh I could bet the audience is laughing

So lie and say you love me
Lie one more time
Stay with me and painfully just say we'll be alright
Just lie
Tell me we'll go on and on and on forever
Holding onto something better
On and on and on forever
Holding onto something, oh
Stay with me and painfully just
Say we'll be alright
Just lie
