

Only Ever

Ruel

I only ever want you, baby
Come and take me to where you are
You only ever call me, baby
Show your face when you need someone

You say all the right things
Pulling all the right strings
Broken silver linings
When I look in your eyes
You know what the night brings
Bring your overnight things
'Cause this time, I might
I might change your mind

Those looks when you give 'em
Like light through a prism
My dreams don't kill 'em
Out of everything and everyone, oh, I

I only ever want you, baby
Come and take me to where you are
You only ever call me, baby
Show your face when you need someone

I don't know how to say this
You're all I'm wanting
A magnet on a stainless
Can't pull me off it

Those looks when you give 'em
Like I'm locked in a prison
My heart, it's a given (It's a given, yeah)
Out of everything and everyone, oh, I

I only ever want you, baby
Come and take me to where you are
You only ever call me, baby
Show your face when you need someone
