

Two Words

Ruiner

Hello you fuckers, you assholes, you social rejects...

I hope you get my sarcasm as I generalize our subculture

That once had the biggest of mouths.

Now scared to just speak up,

Scared of prepubescent teens with the fastest hands

Or has-been role models who gave in to their own cynicism.

I might seem jaded, I might seem arrogant. However

I am a dude of many opinions which I encroach on every open ear
.

I find it offensive when someone cowers behind tight lips.

Save face for the sake of social status, prostitution with a pretty face.

No approval here not bought with pride, all loss for someone else's gain.

Keep your mouth shut. Keep your eyes straight- a -head.

You might make it out of here unscathed but devoid of purpose.

Mediocrity is a fucking cancer; it seems air born and contagious.

I found myself here-when I didn't fit-most anywhere else.

Now I find it hard to relate to the most familiar of faces.

Don't Care

Pardon my apathy and my articulation with cheap childish phrases

But I hate the excuses I give this nothing more than these two words

Fuck it

How cliché this all sounds.

This was made for the individual

But is ruined by the ignorant masses.