

Seeds

Run River North

After all I've said and done
What's left to call my only one
Hold back my son, her moon is up

Moon shines alive while the darkness creeps
Soon you'll be lying in a bed of thieves
Thick is the color of rust and greed
Water your plants, don't swallow the seed
Water your plants, don't swallow the seed

Watch all the folks with their fast feed dial
Spinning around like it'll never end
Less is the key she chose to turn
Into her memories, lock it and burn
Into her memory, lock it and burn

And it seems you don't remember
If she was the last to call you lover or friend
Follow me
Don't be dramatic
Left to my devices, I'll delve in too deep

Build to the brim with a constant crack
Lovely to find you when you're shining through
But break it all down, you've got nothing left
Leave your remarks alone, better unsaid
Leave those marks alone, better you left

And it seems you still don't remember
If you were the last to call her lover or friend
Follow me
Don't be dramatic
Left to our devices, the devil makes us three
Don't take my hand
Go find your way back alone
Matter of fact, go find a home
Garden of seeds you can sow
A pattern that gives more than it shows
Just like she did
Just like she did
Just like she did

She didn't want you to herself
Pity you felt that that was hell
Shame on us, we never showed you
A better way instead of "I told you"
Easier words never felt so wrong
Don't do justice
Just move it along
Don't do justice
Just move it along
Don't do justice
Just sing us a song
