

Heart Attack

Runner Runner

Like a heart attack
She got me laid up on my back

She's waiting in the dark again tonight
(Forget about reality)
Never really cared for wrong or right
(Now she's got a hold of me)
What she does to me
It's like a sweet disease
And it's only the first time
I need to take control
(Need to take control)

Because the girl looks like a heart attack
She got me laid up on my back
She's got my heart locked up in a little box
And she knows it, she knows it

She takes me by the hand and leads the way
(Baby)
She looks into my eyes like I'm her prey
(She's gone and got the best of me)
She's a runaway with no place to go
And it's always the right time
She needs to take control
(Need to take control)

Because the girl looks like a heart attack
She got me laid up on my back
She's got my heart locked up in a little box
And she knows it, she knows it

Tick tock on the clock
Just don't stop
She knows it, she knows it

She's waiting in the dark with her little black heart
Like a killer ...
Oh, baby, baby

(God, I can't breathe)

Because the girl looks like a heart attack
She got me laid up on my back
She's got a little black box where she keeps my heart
She knows it, she knows it

Because the girl looks like a heart attack
She got me laid up on my back
She's got my heart locked up in a little box, yeah
She knows it, she knows it

Tick tock on the clock
Just don't stop
She knows it, she knows it

The girl looks like a heart attack

She got me laid up on my back
