

Say Your Prayers

Running Wild

World is on fire, smoke in the streets
The ground is shaking, burning in heat
Rocks are melting, liquefying steel
Hell comes alive in a nightmare so real

You better stand your ground
When it all comes down
You better stand the heat
When your soul's on the leap

So say your prayers, say your prayers
When the world comes down, all turning around
So say your prayers, say your prayers
A new world is born, the old world is torn apart

Hell is open, pouring its seed
Steely insects biting in greed
Demon's torture wasting the land
The reaper is taking the fallen like sand

You better stand your ground
When it all comes down
You better stand the heat
When your soul's on the leap

So say your prayers, say your prayers
When the world comes down, all turning around
So say your prayers, say your prayers
A new world is born, the old world is torn apart

Three days of darkness coming on you
Its end is near when the evil's through
A new world is born under the sun
Change is coming but straight with the gun

You better stand your ground
When it all comes down
You better stand the heat
When your soul's on the leap

So say your prayers, say your prayers
When the world comes down, all turning around
So say your prayers, say your prayers
When the world comes down, all turning around
So say your prayers, say your prayers
A new world is born, the old world is torn apart
So say your prayers, say your prayers
A new world is born, the old world is torn apart
