

Still

Ruston Kelly

Well, the windows broke, and the smoke escaped
And the light came through, and I saw Your face
All I've ever wanted was to know Your name
Out in the desert, I've been waiting for rain

I thought I wanted bliss, but I needed peace
Sick of living inside the cold machine
I don't want nothing if it don't come clean
And next to You is all I've ever wanted to be

Even in the thick of the storm, You were there still Broke your heart to watch me swallow handfuls of pills
Scraping the bottom, I was desperate just to be filled
In the darkest hour when I thought the light got killed
You were there still

Six weeks on the road and I fade to black
Yeah, I strayed so far, thought I'd never come back
But You sent me a love like I'd never had
And from now on, I'm giving it everything I have

'Cause even in the thick of the storms, You were there still Loving me through all my failures and all my guilt
Scraping the bottom, I was desperate just to be filled
In the darkest hour when I thought the light got killed
You were there still
Still

Even in the thick of the storms, You were there still Loving me through poison and all my shame and guilt
Scraping the bottom, I was desperate just to be filled
In the darkest hour when I thought the light got killed
You were there still

You are here still
You are here still
You are here still
