

Rare

Ruth B.

I'm tryna figure you out
I think you are a little like me
You have options all around
But they are nothing like me
I picked you out from the rest
Maybe you're more than a little like me
'Cause I think that you're the best
Locked into you but I feel so free

Do you do this often?
I pray you're not lost in
Your pride, your ego, your self esteem

You better recognize, this isn't some accident
You better understand, my love is magnificent
I hope you feel it too, so out of the ordinary
I know that this, I knew, it can be quite scary
You can search everywhere
But just know that I'm rare

I'm so glad our stars aligned
I like who I can be with you
I'm uptight most of the time
This reckless mess is so brand new

Do you do this often?
I pray you're not lost in
Your pride, your ego, your self esteem

You better recognize, this isn't some accident
You better understand, my love is magnificent
I hope you feel it too, so out of the ordinary
I know that this, I knew, it can be quite scary
You can search everywhere
But just know that I'm rare

Nothing compares to what we have found
All of my days, I want you around

You better recognize, this isn't some accident
You better understand, my love is magnificent
I hope you feel it too, so out of the ordinary
I know this, I knew, it can be quite scary
You can search everywhere
But just know that I'm rare