

Young

Ruth B.

Tonight hope fills our lungs
And I can see it in everyone
Tonight the city is alive and I can breathe for the first time
The lights use to tail us , no now they glow
The songs use to make us sad
Tonight they don't sound so bad
They don't sound so bad

I can hear the sirens
I can see the fire
And it feels so good
So good to be young
And it feels so good
So good to be young

Tonight I can hear the laughs
They're louder than all the backlash
Tonight I can see the smiles
And I think I'll stay awhile
The signs they use to tell us stop
Tonight they say go
The doors they use to be shut closed
Tonight they open for all
They open for all

I can hear the sirens
I can see the fire
And it feels so good
So good to be young
And it feels so good
So good to be young

I am obsessed with being a messed a messed
I am in love with being young, so young
I don't know what the future holds
But one day when I'm old
I'll look back and remember the night when I

I could hear the sirens
I could see the fire
And it felt so good
So good to be young
And it felt so good
So good to be young