

Love Again

RuthAnne

When you've lost all the faith that you once believed
When you're battered and broke and brought to your knees
No, I don't have the cure to take away the pain
But I know that I can make you learn to love again

You been drownin' in the liquor
Smokin' Mary Jane for sleepless nights
But if you let me in baby, I can be your vice
No, I don't have the answers, but let me ease your brain
'Cause I know that I can make you learn to love again

I know you feel like half a man
Like you're beginnin' at the end
But baby please, won't you give my love a chance?
'Cause you ain't felt nothing like me yet

So you bet all your dollars on the wrong hand
And you swore on forever, but forever didn't last
And it took all your strength just to break the chain
But I know that I can make you learn to love again

I know you feel you've nothing left
And all you've got's in pieces
But baby please, let me give you confidence
That you ain't felt nothing like me yet

Oh, love again
Love again
Oh, love again (Love again, oh)

I know you feel like half a man
Like you're beginnin' at the end
But baby please, won't you give my love a chance?
'Cause you ain't felt nothing like me yet, no

Love again
I can make you, I can make you, baby (Love again)
You just need a little patience, baby (Love again)
Oh, you need a little time (Love again)
Oh yeah (Love again)
Yeah baby (Love again)
I can make you love again (Love again)
I know that I can make you learn to love again