Trees drop their leaves they fall by so fast

You don't even notice the weather

Looked up and you'd passed and I'd thought that you'd live fore ver

But you're gone forever

There were new stories just last time I saw her from the life of my mama's mother

We'll have to dream up the ones that we missed because nothing about life is forever

I'll love you forever

Forever spreads and blocks the way $% \left\{ 1\right\} =\left\{ 1\right\}$

The future folds into today

Fighting the wish to make you stay

You have to go and that's ok