Getting chills when you speak, now I'm too attached
Time is moving slow, stuck inside an hourglass
Maybe I'm just getting trapped inside my past life
Stamp the passport, I'm thinking this will be my last flight

I guess I'm not good with relationships
Cause when you got a problem, I cannot relate to it
Maybe I'm too basic or like maybe I'm not patient
So like maybe we should take a break before I finally break this off
It's not my fault but everybody says it is
And even though that's evident, the truth is just irrelevant
Now, I'm backed up in the corner and you're mad again
At least you have some friends cause all of mine are gone
I'm talking to myself over an instrumental Go ahead and call me mental
I be banging on your door, it sounds like heavy metal
Let me talk, before I have to walk away
I know you got some feelings and you just want me to stay
So what's up?

Getting chills when you speak, now I'm too attached

I think you really hate me
So why you wanna date me?
One minute you say you love me and then you call me crazy
Maybe I should just evade this
I keep it brief in different cases
You still try to play me
I read your mind in my leisure time
You can never take control
I be on top of it like the highest on the totem pole
No, this is not a rodeo, so can we keep it calm now?
This a toxic love and I'm hoping that I fall out

Something like that
Every now and then I just get these, these flashbacks
I just wanna move on
