

Heartbreak

Ry x

Caught in the moment hearing your laughter
Wanting your honest touch
But you're in the corner and I'm on the sideline
Waiting for time to rest

Do we really think these words could save this love
We're holding on to what we know
And I feel your kiss on my fingertips

Heartbreak is coming
Can't you see the signs
I should be running
Heartbreak is honest
We're barely holding on
I should be running
Running
Running

Could be a silence, a silence between us
Breaking us slowly apart
Come back and hold me, tell me you need me
Whisper it softly to my ear

Do we really think these words could save this love
I'm holding on to what I know
And I feel your kiss as I try to miss you

Heartbreak is coming
Can't you see the signs
I should be running
Heartbreak is honest
We're barely holding on
I should be running
Running
Running

You're on your way across the ocean, oh
I hear your call, you calling me

Heartbreak is coming
Can't you see the signs
I should be running
Heartbreak is honest
We're barely holding on
I should be running
Running
Running