Easy Plateau

Ryan Adams

Let's take a ride to the easy plateau Where the cold don't come and the wind don't blow Moonlight flickers on the water below The orange grove blossoms In the orange grove Bad nights lead to better days It doesn't matter but I think about it anyway

I want a easy plateau Some place to rest my head I want an easy plateau Some place to rest my head For awhile, for awhile, for awhile For a little while

Sleepyhead, come on let's take a ride To the easy plateau in the back of your mind Up through the alley, take the door under the stairs My head ain't feeling nothing but cats and rocking chairs Bad nights lead to better days It never happens but I think about it anyway I want an easy plateau Some place to hang my head I want an easy plateau Some place to hang my head For awhile, for awhile, for awhile For a little while

How do I hold on to you If I can't hold on to me How do I hold on to you I want an easy plateau Some place to rest my head for a little while

I want an easy plateau Some place to rest my head I want an easy plateau Some place to rest my head An easy plateau
