

Safe in Your Heart

Ryan Amador

When I'm lost on my own and my path is unknown
I'll be safe in your heart, that I'll know, that I'll know
When the dark of the night leaves me blind in the eye
I'll be safe in your heart, let it blind, let it blind
When I've strayed from what I've known, I'll be safe in you
When I walk the unpaved road, I'll be safe in you
I'll be safe in you
Safe in you
Safe in you
When I tumble and I fall at mercy of the walls that kings build up
I'll be safe in your heart, build them tall, build them tall
When I'm robbed of my defenses, weakened by the loss of my poss essions
I won't fear I'll fall apart cause I'll be safe in your heart
When the earth has shaken me, I'll be safe in you
When I've fallen from my needs, I'll be safe in you
I'll be safe in you
I'll be safe in you
When I've learned from what I've feared
When my hands won't let me steer
When I need strength for a new start
I'll be safe in your heart
When I choose to come back home
Leave the dreaming to the young
There's no need to be afraid cause I'll be safe
I'll be safe
When new lines parade my face and my hair ages to gray
I'll be safe in your heart, let me age, let me age
When my mind begins to stir, body burns and memory hurts
I'll be safe in your heart, let it burn, let it burn
And when I'm face to face with time I'll be safe in you
When I lose my final fight, I'll be safe in you
Yeah I'll be safe in you
I'll be safe in you
In you, in you
I'll safe in you
Safe in you
I'll be safe in you
