

Stained

Ryan Amador

I've watched you leave with him in my head, every night since the day you left
I've felt you buried inside my skin, like a tick that I can't seem to shed
And I feel a vacancy
In every part of me
And now I'm rotting away
And why did you tell me who you left me for?
And why did you curse me with your burden?
It should only be yours
I hope you're happier in his arms and that you've found what you lacked in our rut
I hope his features are better to watch, and you can finally leave your eyes open when you're making love
And I made the same mistake
Not making your heart break
And now you're leaving, while I wait
And I'm shaking... And I'm shaking...
And why did you tell me who you left me for?
Why did you curse me with your burden?
It should only be yours
And why did you leave me with your cuts while I'm in pain?
And why did you leave me to the dust then make it rain?
Maybe I'm stained
Maybe I'm stained
And I'm shaking... I'm shaking
And why did you tell me who you left me for?
Why did you curse me with your burden?
It should only be yours
And why did you leave me with your cuts while I'm in pain?
And why did you leave me to the dust then make it rain?
Maybe I'm stained
Maybe I'm stained
Maybe I'm stained...