

Distance

S-X

Don't think, don't think
Of calling when I've called it over
It's about time
You begin to grow a little older

What you tryna do with my time
There's no reason to call you mine, oh
How is it that you think it's fine
Fighting your way into my mind, oh

You can love me from a distance
My life ain't your business
Keeping my promise, keeping my promise
You can love me from afar now
My patience has run out
If I'm being honest, I'm being honest

'Cause I'm not tryna betray your love
But you already gave me up
I'm keeping my distance
And even if you say you were there
We will never be good enough
I'm keeping my distance, keeping my distance

Ayy, ayy, ayy
Yeah, you need to open your mind
Things like this will happen all the time
Don't let these little things change your mind
Please don't think that I'm not listening
When you say how you're feeling
I know, yeah, I can see your side of it
And I know you're tired of this

Yeah, but you deserve better and you know it
Don't fall for the words, you've gotta show it
And, I'll be right here if you need me
You know I got you

You can love me from a distance
My life ain't your business
Keeping my promise, keeping my promise
You can love me from afar now
My patience has run out
If I'm being honest, I'm being honest

'Cause I'm not tryna betray your love
But you already gave me up
I'm keeping my distance
And even if you say you were there
We will never be good enough
I'm keeping my distance, keeping my distance