Maybe It's Time

SAFIA

Maybe I should wait
Am I holding out hope?
Am I being unkind to myself
When I don't trust today?
I'm just hoping this love won't fade

But we've been wearing thin
Yeah we've been wearing thin
When I had your heart, I should have let you in
To there and back again
To there and back again

Maybe I should break to get whole again
But it's further and further away
And while you move, I stay
I'm still hoping this love won't fade

But we've been wearing thin
Yeah we've been wearing thin
When you had my heart, I should've let you in
To there and back again
To there and back again

And, oh, you hold me from such a distance
I guess maybe it's time
And if you could've told me, it could all be different
But I'm running out of time

When it come up again
And I wonder why
It's the same buried heart I can't hide
You'll never love again
That's the fear of mine
I guess we should say our goodbyes

But we've been wearing thin
Yeah we've been wearing thin
When you had my heart, I should've let you in
To there and back again
To there and back again

And you hold me from such a distance
I guess maybe it's time
And if you could and told me, it could all be different
But I'm running out of time
And, oh, you hold me from such a distance
I guess maybe it's time
And if you could and told me, it could all be different
But I'm running out of time
And I'm running out of time
I'm running out of time
