

You say you know
But then you don't, you never know
I feel like there's so much to breathe
So where do we go? Where do we go?
Lately we've been hard to reach
And lately everything's gone wrong
I feel like it's been hard to breach
The moment where this all came from
It's getting kinda hard to see
We stay afloat, we stay afloat

Love, I guess it's rough
We let it all burn down
And I try so hard, but clearly not enough
I guess it's tough
My heart still has vertigo
But I bet you call that love

You say you will
And then you won't, like standing still
Tell me how we got this far
Away from home, away from here
Feels like I'm bein' choked
It's getting kinda hard to breathe
I feel like I've been cut in two
From the surface to the underneath
Tell me if it gets my cheers, yeah
Wherever you are, wherever you are
On and on, this heartbeat's getting faster
Faster, faster
All those nights, cracks creak through the plaster

Love, I guess it's rough
We let it all burn down
And I try so hard, but clearly not enough
I guess it's tough
My heart still has vertigo
Tell myself that "you shouldn't fall in love"
Because it's rough
And then it all burns down
And I try so hard, but it won't be enough
Because it's tough
My heart still has vertigo
But I guess you call that love
Yeah, I guess you call that love
(My heart still has vertigo)

I guess it's rough
We let it all burn down
And I try so hard, but it won't be enough
Because it's tough
My heart still has vertigo
Tell myself that "you shouldn't fall in love"