

Worth Living For

Said The Sky

Please don't leave, I'm waiting for you here
I tug your sleeve, it's better when you're near
And just breathe, we're almost in the clear
Wait and see, there's nothing left to fear

When you're saying my name
I'm feelin' no pain
The demons they can't outlast the love
You might think it's a game
But if it's so you're winning
These feelings they can't outweigh your worth

Just stay here
Just stay here
Just stay here
Just hold on and breathe awhile
Just stay here

I'll wake you up, with coffee in the morning
And I'll remind you, your life is so important
We could drive through the coast of California
Just to scream and shout, our lungs are broken out

Just stay here
Just stay here
Just stay here
Just hold on and breathe awhile
Just stay here

The letter that you wrote, it's on my arm
The flannel you borrowed but never wore
It's part of the story we're building on
The chapter is over, the book's not done

The letter that you wrote, it's on my arm
The flannel you borrowed but never wore
It's part of the story we're building on
The chapter is over, the book's not done

The letter that you wrote, it's on my arm
The flannel you borrowed but never wore
It's part of the story we're building on
The chapter is over, the book's not done

The letter that you wrote, it's on my arm
The flannel you borrowed but never wore
It's part of the story we're building on
The chapter is over, the book's not done

Just stay here
Just stay here
It's all worth living for
