Now's The Time

Salem Al Fakir

Some people never change they go on and on, stuck on the same trail. All they need is a change of pace. To figure out, it's heading down the drain.

It's beautiful, every little step we take
It's beautiful, every little step we take

Some people try to change their ways they take it step by step and day by day Now's the time to get up on the train It's standing on the station, don't be late!