

Breakdown

Saliva

Feel the wind blow, and the skies fade to black
Feel my eyes close, yeah there's no turning back
And the waves break the shore, wash the footprints from the sand
I'm frozen in the spot where I once held your hand

Breathe in and breathe out, this heartache will pass
Falling in sadness, I'm sinking way too fast
Who's gonna catch me when I break down?
Yeah

Feel the water and the salt on my skin
Just reminds me of the way it could have been
Before the storm, before the rain
Before the hurt and all the pain
Somehow this love got lost along the way
So I let the ocean slowly carry me away

As I breathe in and breathe out, this heartache will pass
Falling in sadness, I'm sinking way too fast
Who's gonna catch me when I break down?
Yeah

Who's gonna catch me when I break down?
Who's gonna catch me when I break down?
Who's gonna catch me when I break down?

Breathe in and breathe out, this heartache will pass
Falling in sadness, I'm sinking way too fast
Who's gonna catch me when I break down?
