

You Know I Know

Sam Barber

Two, three

We can no longer fake this since we lost purpose
These days have become such a climb
I can feel the tide changing, and if I don't make it
I'll be caught between space and time

You know, I know I'm not alright
I'm so damn tired of all this fight

If all went to hell and I stopped breathing tonight
You wouldn't have a thought about saving my life
Every scar that you've left has been burned on my mind
We're all set to crash, if not now, then in time

As I stare at the darkness that came without warning
I'd rather be somewhere I'm not
All the bad waking morning and ceaseless down-pouring
Finally taken all that I've got

You know, I know I'm not alright
I'm so damn tired of all this fight

If all went to hell and I stopped breathing tonight
You wouldn't have a thought about saving my life
Every scar that you've left has been burned on my mind
We're all set to crash, if not now, then in time

We can no longer fake this since we lost purpose
These days have become such a climb
I can feel the tide changing, and if I don't make it
I'll be caught between space and time
