Entertainmen

Sam Phillips

She married a gold mine with a time bomb He went off to be legend Now her love's a corporation And she's just post humorous

Entertainmen Watch me Let me be your TV

He asked her to spread her magazines All across his floor He finally found his bathing beauty And she was a girl worth wading for

My father loved to watch the blondes Burning down our street So I learned to sing and to dance on water At my mother's feet