

Who Do You Pray To When You Don't Believe In God?

Sam Tompkins

Everybody's seeking something when their mind's awake
And I'm no stranger to it, it's my nature doing the same
Lately I've been craving the answers to questions I've not made
I might know how to do it, but I'm not sure that I'm ready to change

I'm searching
The earth and
I haven't even found myself in it
This curtain
Has a purpose
But I wanna find out what's next so

Who do you pray to
When you don't believe in god
'Cause I'm on my knees
And I feel like giving up
What do you wish for
When you don't believe in luck
'Cause I'm down in the dumps
And no one cares enough

I'm jealous of a man who can look up and feel his faith
'Cause right now in my heart if I'm honest all I can feel is rain
It's taken 20 years and I still cannot work out who to blame
For all my misery contempt, for things and all my shame

I'm searching
The earth and
I haven't even found myself in it
This curtain
Has a purpose
But I wanna find out what's next so

Who do you pray to
When you don't believe in god
'Cause I'm on my knees
And I feel like giving up
What do you wish for
When you don't believe in luck
'Cause I'm down in the dumps
And no one cares enough

(I say it on my knees, I'm on my knees)

Who do you pray to
When you don't believe in god
'Cause I'm on my knees
And I feel like giving up
What do you wish for
When you don't believe in luck
'Cause I'm down in the dumps
And no one cares enough

Am I wrong for wanting
Something more from life
I don't quite know the answer there
All I long for is a

Comfy time while I'm Still breathing I know that's it out there
