

Fair-weather

Samantha Fish

A simple bond I thought was true
A naive heart to misconstrue
Why did I get so close to you?
What did I do?

I thought that you would find your way
Hollow words that you betray
A bitter end, a sad cliché
I can't stay so

Farewell my fair-weather
Farewell my old forever
Goodbye to a passing whim
The winds of change that blew you in
Farewell my fair-weather
All the time we spent together
Doesn't mean much to you
Someday, somehow you'll see the truth

People come and people go

A punchline that comes on slow
From a gentle break, to a painful blow
I did not know

That you would be the one to take
And break my heart so easily
And give to me this black bouquet
I can't relate

Farewell my fair-weather
Farewell my old forever
Goodbye to a passing whim
The winds of change that blew you in
Farewell my fair-weather
All the time we spent together
Doesn't mean much to you
Someday, somehow you'll see the truth
