

No Apology

Samantha Fish

I know it's hard sometimes
We tried, we failed, we crossed the line
So why you say it should be different this time?

And I know you're growing tired
You look for more but life's left much to be desired
But I need you to try

And I don't need no apology, well
I can't be your enemy
And your everything

I felt this way before
You got one foot in and got one out of the door
But baby, don't I give you so much more?

But I can't just wait around
No, you're pointing questions like confessions
They wear me down
Oh, hey, can't you see you're pushing me away

I don't need no apology, well
I can't be your enemy
And your everything
Oh baby

It's you, you that I want
I know, I know we are (?)
It's you, you that I want
Baby, I just want you to love me the better
It's you, you that I want
Cause when you hold me you know it can happen

And I don't need no apology
I can't be your enemy
And your everything

And I don't need no apology
I can't be your enemy
And your everything

I don't need (oh baby) no apology
I can't be your enemy
And your everything
